Hartford City Telegram.

Secretary Thompson, of the navy department has his weather eye on the Indiana governorship.

The Evansville Courier says:

The river editors of democratic papers are opposed to Seymour. He voted against the impeachment.

The Logansport Journal thinks Horatio Seymour the only available man the democrats have for 1880.

The Warsaw Indianan certifies that William H. English was perfectly loyal during the war. Really!

The Michigan City Dispatch says:

The Bryant boom expands, and will soon reach enormous proportions.

The Muncie Times (rep.) considers Tilden "the liveliest corpse in existence." The Times' head is level.

Logansport Standard (rep.):

The Tennessean were that struck Samuel J. Tilden on election day in New York, has built him forever from political view.

The Wabash Courier says:

Senator Bayard returned from Europe last Friday and was agreeably surprised to note the dimensions of his boom.

The Rockport Gazette well says:

The democrats, though beaten, should never despair. Pick your flints and try it again. The glorious old party of the people can never die.

The New Albany Ledger-Standard says:

After Tilden, Horatio Seymour, of New York, is the most available man the democrats can nominate for the presidency.

The Michigan City Dispatch makes this suggestion:

While casting about for a candidate for governor, we would like to see the republican party, Senator Credit Mobilier Co. for Judge Woods, of Goshen, is looked upon by republicans as a most available candidate for judge of the supreme court.

This from the Rockport Gazette:

Senator McDonald, of Indiana, suggests Hendricks and Potter, as the ticket next year. Not bad suggestion, by any means, as it would save New York without doubt.

In the emergency of Gen. Maunson being nominated for governor, Edgar A. Henderson, of Madison county, is talked of for auditor.

The republican state central committee of Indiana has appointed the 20th of February as the day of holding the state convention.

The Peru Republican gives in this fashion:

Indiana cannot afford to be the tail piece of the southern confederacy. Spite and revenge are not in fashion north of the Ohio River.

The Kendallville News says:

The great issue between parties in 1878, and upon that question the democratic party can win. All others are defeated with doubt and uncertainty.

The Indianapolis News says:

If the democrats had any sense they would settle on Bayard and McDonald or Bayard and English, for their presidential ticket, and then forward their president making in the coming congress.

The Huntington Democrat says:

Senator McDonald declares that he is for Hendricks and Potter as the democratic candidates for the presidential ticket in 1880. The senator's head is always level, and every democrat in Indiana believes the ticket will win.

The Ligonier Banner says:

There must be no doubt about the ability of our standard-bearer carrying New York. New Jersey would rather see the electoral vote of New Jersey may not be absolutely necessary. But New Jersey is a democratic state and must be carried.

The New York Tribune observes that if Mr. Tilden decides to remove his alleged "corps" from the field, a combination of Potter and McDonald would not be entirely improbable.

Wabash Courier:

Congress will assemble in a few weeks and if Mr. Tilden has not written out that speech he would better be up and at it. Voting with his party at every roll call and looking wise between votes will not win him a re-election. This point has been settled.

The Angola Herald says:

A democratic exchange suggests that "the democracy of Indiana must nominate a ticket best for governor next year. No second rate politicians need apply." Now that is our motto, first, last and all the time. "Second rate politicians" seldom make first class officials.

A democratic exchange says:

We notice that a few newspapers are encouraging Zeb. Williams of the Wabash Courier to be the democratic candidate for governor. However, the met that the encouragement comes entirely from newspapers and newspapers does not argue well for Zeb's success.

The Logansport Phoenix says:

Do any of our friends want some colored gentlemen to keep until after the election next fall? If so they can be secured by addressing the secretary of the republican immigration scheme, Indianapolis, Ind. The people of Kansas also have some that they would like to dispose of on the best terms possible. Address the governor at Topeka.

We clip the following from the Valparaiso Messenger:

The Logansport Journal the staunchest republican paper in northern Indiana, in speaking of the "grand republican victory in Ohio and Iowa," emphatically says: "The people of Kansas also have some that they would like to dispose of on the best terms possible. Address the governor at Topeka."

The Wabash Courier generally talks sense. Here is a specimen:

If Hendricks can carry New York next year he is the most available democratic candidate for the presidency. If he cannot there should be no further talk about his nomination. This is the real question to decide.

The citizens of Indiana will vote next April on a constitutional amendment changing the time of state elections from October to November. If adopted, this would leave Ohio the only "October state."

The Richmond Palladium (rep.) emits the following:

The demand upon Indiana for a democratic candidate for the vice presidency is becoming so general as to embarrass the party in this state. Hendricks has declined the position, and the majority of all the other leaders have declined it. Some one will have to be drafted into service.

The Valley Star says:

The nomination of Tilden would take all the wind out of republican sails. Their thunder has all been expended on him and his public and private character is better known to the people than any other man that was heard upon him, he was triumphantly elected and the same glory.

The Lawrenceburg Register is for Hendricks and Potter.

Cass county is solid for Judge Ross, for the supreme bench.

Hartford City Telegram:

There are still signs of a Tilden boom.

Wabash Courier:

The Bryant boom is the one that is now most clearly and distinctly heard in the land.

The Newport Courier State states:

The Newport Courier is red hot for Hon. M. C. Hunter as the republican standard bearer for governor in 1880. When Hunter lets such an old law enter into his mind, he is not fit to be the head of nearly 100,000 people. In a district that can elect 1,200 republicans, it is not surprising to find a republican candidate for governor. The republican party wants to put out a man that can win.

The Rockport Gazette puts a head over its editorial column after this fashion:

To victory in

For President,

THOMAS A. HENDRICKS.

For Vice President,

WALDE HAMPTON.

For Governor,

ISAAC GRAY.

Louisville Courier-Journal:

The Indiana republicans who are working up the excite business for vote purposes next year are asserting that Indiana has been sorely in need of farm laborers. It is a pity they have not considered the fact that Indiana has thousands of white men have been anxious for some time to get such labor. The excite business now tell us that Indiana farmers are in need of black laborers. "Only black farm hands wanted" is their notation.

The Indianapolis Sentinel talks this way:

Mr. Hendricks was the first democratic governor elected in any northern state after the close of the war. Mr. Kerr, of Indiana, was the first democratic speaker of the house of representatives chosen since the war. The democracy of the union in convention at St. Louis chose Mr. Hendricks, of Indiana, as their candidate for the second office in the nation and as the successor of their great leader in the east in case of survivorship. Time and events, without any action of his own, events beyond his power or that of any other, either to force or control, have given Mr. Hendricks this survivorship. A man's destiny, almost providential in its character, has placed him in a way not to be misunderstood, hardly to be misinterpreted, as the candidate of the democratic party for president in the ensuing campaign.

A considerable sum has been raised with which to erect a bronze statue of the late Hon. Oliver P. Morton, in the cemetery near Indianapolis, Ind., the work to be done by a celebrated artist and to be of a character that will reflect credit on the state. It is proposed to push the work to a speedy completion.

Gen. Hooker is said to have left a handsome fortune, which will probably go to his sisters, Mrs. Braibard and Mrs. Wood, of Watertown, N. Y. Among his effects is a large picture of the battle of Lookout Mountain, for which he paid $25,000. He had prepared a book on the battle at Chattanooga, which is now in the publisher's hands, and was about to begin a book on the famous engagement on Lookout Mountain.

Gen. Grant, of course, had his picture "look" while in San Francisco. When the general took his seat in a chair for this purpose, he laid the inevitable cigar down on another chair. The enterprising photographer took a picture of the chair with the cigar lying on it, and is sending copies of it all over the country with the title attached: "An old soldier." Now, if they had only got hold of the general's last discarded chaw of tobacco, or a pair of cast off socks, or a paper collar, the picture would have been something like.

Rev. Dr. Buddington, the well known Congregational clergyman of Brooklyn, is reported slowly dying of cancer. The whole lower part of his face is now covered with a cancerous growth, and the poison of the disease has eaten through the lower jaw-bone. A council of physicians was recently held to consider the feasibility of removing the lower jaw-bone to arrest the disease, but as the cancer had doubtless poisoned his blood, so that its reappearance was but a question of time, it was determined not to add to the patient's agony and to the mutilation of the face.

The superintendent of the census has found the census law entirely satisfactory.

A monument will be placed over the grave of the mother of Abraham Lincoln, at Lincoln, at Lincoln Station, on the Rockport and Jasper Railway, to-morrow.

The Albany Argus states that the accounts in the New York state treasurer's office are entirely correct, and that the books of the treasurer and comptroller perfectly balance. Mr. Mills was called in by the treasurer himself, and not by the governor, to assist in adjusting the accounts.

At the cabinet meeting Tuesday, the president read to his constitutional advisers the principal portions of his completed annual message. It has been prepared after a thorough consideration of its topics at previous sessions of the cabinet, and there is understood to be a unanimity among the president's counselors concerning its contents.

Prince Alexander, of Bulgaria, is very popular. He is rather simple in his habits, gives quiet little dinners, talks freely on public affairs, allows his friends to breakfast with him in morning clothes, and is described as being good-natured, shy and quiet.

William C. Preston, of Kentucky, who was, in his day, minister to Spain, member of congress, and rebel general, argued a case in a St. Louis court the other day. He is described as "still erect and high-headed," but blind in one eye and deaf in one ear.

George Francis Train has relinquished for years the use of meat, tea and coffee and stimulants of all kinds, and lives a singularly pure and abstemious life, so strictly ascetic as any monk of old, only instead of shutting himself up in a cell he lives out doors. He is the picture of health.

Hartford City Telegram.

Secretary Thompson, of the navy department has his weather eye on the Indiana governorship.

The Evansville Courier says:

The river editors of democratic papers are opposed to Bayard. He voted against river improvement.

The Logansport Journal thinks Horatio Seymour the only available man the democrats have for 1880.

The Warsaw Indianan certifies that William H. English was perfectly loyal during the war. Really!

The Michigan City Dispatch says:

The Bayard boom expands, and will soon reach enormous proportions.

The Muncie Times (rep.) considers Tilden "the liveliest corpse in existence." The Times' head is level.

Lagrange Standard (rep.):

The Tammany wave that struck Samuel J. Tilden on election day in New York, has buried him forever from political view.

The Wabash Courier says:

Senator Bayard returned from Europe last Friday and was agreeably surprised to note the dimensions of his boom.

The Rockport Gazette well says:

The democrats, though beaten, should never despair. Pick your hints and try it again. The old party of the people can never die.

The New Albany Ledger-Standard says:

After Tilden, Horatio Seymour, of New York, is the most available man, the democrats nominate for the presidency.

The Michigan City Dispatch makes this suggestion:

While casting about for a candidate for governor, we recommend to the republican party, smaller credit Mobilier Co. Judge Woods, of Goshen, is looked upon by republicans, as a most available candidate for judge of the supreme court.

This from the Rockport Gazette:

Senator McDonald, of Indiana, suggests Hendricks and Potter, as the ticket next year. Not a bad suggestion, by any means, as it would save New York without doubt.

In the emergency of Gen. Manson being nominated for governor, Edgar A. Henderson, of Madison county, is talked of for auditor.

The republican state central committee of Indiana has appointed the 20th of February as the day of holding the state convention.

The Peru Republican paves in this fashion:

Indiana cannot afford to be the tail end of the southern confederacy. Spinning and shot guns are not in fashion north of the Ohio River.

The Kendallville News says:

The great issue between parties in 1880 should be, and will be the fraud of 1876, and upon that question the democratic party can all win. All others are attended with doubt and uncertainty.

The Indianapolis News says:

If the democrats had any sense they would settle on Bayard and McDonald or Bayard and English, for their presidential ticket, and thus prevent the president making in the coming congress.

The Huntington Democrat says:

Senator McDonald declares that he is for Hendricks and Potter as the democratic candidates for the presidential ticket in 1880. The senator's head is always level, and he is determined to follow the lead of the people who believe in the democratic ticket.

The Ligonier Banner says:

These must be no doubt about the ability of our standard-bearer carrying New Jersey. The democratic party will win the electoral vote of New Jersey may not be absolutely necessary. But New Jersey is a democratic state and will vote for the democratic ticket.

The New York Tribune observes that if Mr. Tilden decides to remove his alleged "corpsa" from the field, a combination of Potter and McDonald would not be entirely improbable.

Wabash Courier:

Congress will assemble in a few days and if Mr. Tilden does not withdraw from the race, he will have a very hard time of it. Voting with his party at every roll call and in every vote, he will not win him a re-nomination. This point has been settled.

The Angola Herald says:

A democratic exchange suggests that "the democracy of Indiana must nominate their best man for governor next year, and second rate politicians need apply." Now that is our motto, first, last and all the time. "Second rate politicians" seldom make first class officials.

A democratic exchange says:

We notice that a few newspapers are encouraging Rev. Williams as a candidate for governor. However, the fact that the encouragement comes entirely from democratic newspapers does not argue well for Reuben's success.

The Logansport Pharos says:

Do any of our friends want some colored gentlemen to keep up until after the next fall? If so they can be secured by addressing the secretary of the republican immigration scheme, Indianapolis, Ind. The people of Kansas also live some that they would like to dispose of on the best terms possible. Address the governor at Topeka.

We clip the following from the Valparaiso Messenger:

The Laporte Herald the staunchest republican paper in northern Indiana, in speaking of the republican victory in Ohio and Iowa, "emphatically says: 'Even if it is republican, and always has been,' Charles H. Fowler knows whereof he speaks."

The Wabash Courier generally talks sense. Here is a specimen:

If Hendricks can carry New York next year he is the most available democratic candidate for the presidency; if he cannot there should be no further talk about his nomination. This is the real question to decide.

The citizens of Indiana will vote next April on a constitutional amendment changing the time of state elections from October to November. If adopted, this would leave Ohio the only "October state."

The Richmond Palladium (rep.) emits the following:

The demand upon Indiana for a democratic candidate for the vice presidency is becoming so general as to embarrass the party in this state. Hon. Bayard has declined the position, and the modesty of all the other leaders forbids their acceptance. Some one will have to be drafted into service.

The Valley Star says:

The nomination of Tilden would take all the wind out of republican sails. Their thunder has been expended on him and his public and private character is brighter than the sun. When the news of his nomination was heard upon him, he was triumphantly elected and the same glory.

Our victory can be brought about again with him as the leader of the democratic host.

The Newport Hoosier State states:

The Terre Haute Courier is red hot for Hon. M. C. Hunter as the republican standard bearer for governor in 1880. When Hunter lets such an old hawk enter as Hoosier snow-bird, he will find the tane of nearly 1,000 majority, in a district that cast 1,200 republican majority, it don't seem very hard for him to carry.

The Rockport Gazette puts a head over its editorial column after this fashion:

To victory in 1880.

For President, THOMAS A. HENDRICKS.

For Vice President, W. B. HAYWARD.

For Governor, ISAAC C. GRAY.

Louisville Courier-Journal:

The Indiana republicans who are working up the exodus business for voting purposes next year, are assuming that Indiana is and has been sorely in need of farm laborers. It is a pity they have not heretofore let that fact be known, and thousands of white men might be anxious for some time to get such labor.

The exodus republicans now tell us that Indiana farmers are suffering for lack of black laborers. "Only black farm hands wanted" is their notification.

The Indianapolis Sentinel talks this way:

Mr. Hendricks was the first democratic governor elected in any northern state after the close of the war. Mr. Kerr, of Indiana, was the first democratic speaker of the house of representatives chosen since the war. The democracy of the union in convention at St. Louis chose Mr. Hendricks, of Indiana, as the candidate for the second office in the nation and as the successor of their great leader in the east in the case of survivorship.

Without any action of his own—eventually beyond his power or that of any other, Hendricks was elected to the succession, and has indicated him in a way not to be misunderstood, hardly to be misinterpreted, as the candidate of the democratic party for president in the ensuing campaign.

Gov. HENDRICKS.

PETITIONS.

The following petitions were referred to the appropriate committee:

The petition of Chas. Durst for a return of a dust shovel, and of Christiana Weller and Johanna Holmes for widows exemption.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES

were as follows:

The committee on finance reported that they had examined the reports of the mayor and clerk and found them correct. Find also that they had sold and delivered the $85,000 6 percent city bonds to Clark, Post & Martin of New York, receiving therefor 11 percent premium and accrued interest, making in all $86,467.71.

The report was concurred in and recorded.

The committee on fire department reported on the matters concerning the chief engineer, referred to them, that the chief refused to them, to keep an account of the running expenses of the department although requested to do so and informed by the city attorney that it was his duty. He replied that he knew by legal advice what his duty was and all the record he would keep would be a register of fires. They also stated that the chief would not report to them the necessity of purchasing fuel, that he had furnished coal to R. D. Wood & Co., on his own authority and did not report the price of coal sold to French, Hanna & Co.; they finally recommended the pensioning of "Old John" the horse cart horse who had served the city faithfully for thirteen years.

Respecting the fault of the inharmonious feeling between the fire committee and the chief engineer, Mr. McCulloch said the fault was not with the committee, as the chief had utterly refused to comply with their various requests, and also stated that the engine was lent to R. D. Wood & Company, that it would only require a few hours work, but no provision was made for coal.

Mr. Hettler said that at the loss of the purchasing power was no excuse for insubordination and that there were many better and more gentlemanly men to take his place.

Mr. Chittenden sided with Mr. Hettler for once, and wanted the chief to run the department as the city wanted him to, or not at all.

The whole report was finally referred to a special committee, consisting of Messrs. Hettler, Fox and Holmes.

The committee on gas asked for further time to report on matters referred to them. Granted.

The committee on streets reported in favor of the widening of Walton avenue from Lewis street to Maumee avenue; in favor of curbing the north side of Pritchard street, from Van Buren to Jackson street; in favor of grading and filling the alley between Washington and Jefferson street, running from Garden to Nelson street; also that, in their estimation, the property of J. W. Langhor was not damaged by the removal of gravel pit. The report of the committee was concurred in.

The committee on printing reported the contract of the city with the Gazette Co., which provided that the Gazette Company print the full report of the council proceedings in the Gazette and furnish the council with 50 copies of said paper on the evening preceding each meeting.

Councilman Bash wanted to amend the contract.

Hettler said it was no contract at all. The Sentinel published just as good a report as the Gazette but neither was official. As far as he was concerned he would rather pay the Gazette company the price of the contract and let them keep their paper. The idea was to have a pamphlet form published and the contract should have stated. At present they received nothing more than they did in all former years and yet pay the Gazette Company a pension.

Mr. Muhler said they published matter enough but not the right kind. They published the speeches where they ought to publish the resolutions and ordinances in full.

On motion of Mr. Hettler the matter was referred back to the printing committee to inquire what the Gazette Co. would print an official report in pamphlet form for.

At this juncture the mayor left the hall to take the acknowledgment of H. C. Graff to Langhor & Baltes's bond. Mr. Chittenden was called to the chair.

The committee on public grounds reported in favor of the request of the city engineer to remove his office to the water works building, and a good time is expected, as many of our best singers are engaged in the affair, and have been faithfully practicing for some time.

Repair seems to be the watchword in our town the last week or two. Workmen have been busily engaged in repairing the sidewalks from the town down to the depot. It is to be hoped that the good work will be continued until all the sidewalks in town are in a good shape.

The contract for the repairing of the fence around the graveyard was let Saturday evening, Byron Crowl being the lucky bidder.

Quite an excitement has been created within the last few days, about incorporating our village. Saturday evening a meeting was called and met at the Ossian House. Steps were taken toward getting the survey made, and an effort is being made to raise money to pay expenses. The prospects for incorporation are good.

A short time since a thief entered the house of Mr. Perkins, who lives a few miles east of town, and stole $37 in money. There is no clue to the thief as yet.

The Committee on Public Grounds.

The Committee on Public Grounds.

The Committee on Public Grounds.

The city attorney reported a new contract with the Globe Gas Light Company; in reference to an old sewer running through lots in Parisot's addition; that the city should repair the sewer unless they wish to abandon it, otherwise the owners would have the right to fill it up; also that the petition for the Lewis and Madison street sewer was regular and legal. Concurred in.

The chief engineer of the fire department reported that he had read the report of the fire committee and would say that the committee had not held a legal meeting for six months and he was never invited to any of their meetings, and that they had entirely ignored him in their actions. He referred them to the ordinance on his right and privileges and did not propose to deviate from his rights guaranteed by the city charter. The committee also order men to work without his knowledge and in short do as they please and yet hold him responsible. He was ordered by the committee to deliver certain hose and he did so. He ordered nothing out of the department but by authority, and if he was to be held responsible he wanted to be in charge and not the committee.

Referring to the telephone line, he said that was a private contract with himself and J. H. Bass, and he paid for its construction and not the city, and the wire he used was used by permission.

This report was referred to the same special committee as the committee's report.

The clerk reported the receipt of the delinquent tax list from the city treasurer. Filed.

The market master reported ten-cent collections, amounting to $71.80. Referred to the committee on finance.

The city commissioners reported that they had viewed the alley in Hanna's addition and recommended its vacation. They assessed the benefits to lots 187, 188, 108, 109, 116 and 117 at $20 each, also another alley in the same addition, in which the benefits assessed were to lots 30, 31, 64 and 65, $25 each. The report was afterwards disposed of by resolution.

ORDINANCES.

An ordinance to construct a wooden sewer in the alley between Lewis and Madison street, from Hanna to Monroe street, was amended and passed.

Councilman Muhler introduced an ordinance for repealing the ordinance providing for the issue of the $85,000 5 percent bonds. The rules were suspended and the ordinance was passed.

RESOLUTIONS.

were read and adopted: That the property owners on the north side of Pritchard street be notified to put down wooden curbing from Van Buren to Jackson street; that John Krook, P. Veith and N. B. ## RUNAWAY.

Two Ladies Thrown Out of a Wagon—A Narrow Escape.

Yesterday evening between 4 and 5 o'clock, Mrs. Dintlag and daughter, living at 239 East Washington street, were returning to this city on the New Haven road, in a wagon having a load of wood on board, when the horses took fright at some object alongside of the road, and started to run. Mrs. D. lost control of them entirely and was thrown out, but sustained no serious injuries. The little girl, aged about seven years, remained in the wagon while the team ran about a mile farther when she too was thrown out, one of the wagon wheels passing over her, but happily she too received no serious injuries. The horses ran to the outskirts of the city where they were captured, the wagon having received no material damage. The accident was a very fortunate one as it was a narrow escape.

AMUSEMENTS.

THE JUVENILES.

The enterprising Whitney management drew to the Academy, yesterday afternoon, the largest audience which ever attended a matinee in this city. "Pinafore" was presented in a really faultless manner, and the audience was most enthusiastic and appreciative.

Last evening "Fatinitza" was presented for the first time in this city, the audience being moderate in size but very select in quality. The music is much more difficult than that of "Pinafore," but was rendered equally as well. The little people displayed remarkable histrionic ability and really phenomenal memories. Miss Lillie Parsloe, the charming "Josephine" of "Pinafore," gained new laurels by her excellent rendition of the "Princess Lydia." Her remarkable voice was well rewarded by excellent effect, and she rendered the most difficult passages with absolute accuracy. Charles Minchin as "Madimir," was in every way admirable. Master John Smith as "Julian Hardy," the irrepressible war correspondent, showed himself to be a natural born actor. He evidently has a bright future before him. The chorus was admirable, and the piece was presented in a most acceptable manner throughout. Although the evening audiences were not so large as they should have been, the company produced a most favorable impression. They will probably return ere long and present the "Chimes of Normandy," which they are now rehearsing.

THE RAILROADS.

The Wabash pay car is here. Rodney Ellenwood, the popular Pittsburgh engineer, returned from Chicago last night, where he has been visiting for the past week. He will take charge of his engine on Friday.

The best run on record between this place and Crestline, O., was made last night by the second section of No. 3, consisting of four cars, and was pulled through by engine No. 154, Pullen engineer, and Owen Owens conductor, and the Pullen they did was entirely Owen to their proficiency and nerve. The train left Crestline one hour and thirty-eight minutes behind the regular train and arrived at this city ten minutes behind, making the entire run, a distance of 131 miles in two hours and 59 minutes including stops, or a mile every one 1-11 minutes. The best record before was three hours and five minutes. They made the run from Van Wert to this city, a distance of 32 miles, in 39 minutes, from Crestline to Bucyrus, a distance of 13 miles in 14 minutes, but the best run was from Ada to Lima, a distance of 15 miles in 21 minutes, which included a stop to take water.

NOT GUILTY.

Dr. Allen Moore Confesses His Innocence.

His Return from Plymouth, and What He Says.

Dr. Allen Moore and wife, who were arrested on Monday and taken to Plymouth for murder, returned to this city yesterday afternoon, having procured bail immediately upon their arrival there.

Moore's explanation is that he knew nothing of an abortion being committed, but treated the young lady for neuralgia of the stomach, but soon found that he could not relieve her and told her parents that they had better call in another physician, when in consultation they decided that the girl must die, which she did shortly afterward, and he heard no more about the matter until arrested. He says that she was pregnant at the time and may have taken a dose herself which caused her death. Dr. Moore says that the action was the result of spite among his professional brethren.

Dr. Moore is a student at the College of Medicine and not at the Medical College of Fort Wayne, as stated.

Tossing Upon a Bed of Agony.
Tortured in every joint, with inflammatory rheumatism, is a prospect which may become a melancholy fact if the twinges of the dread disorder are not checked at the outset. Persons of a rheumatic tendency find Hostetter's Stomach Bitters a useful remedy, nor do they encounter the risk in using it they do from resorting to that active poison Colicium, which is often employed to arrest the malady. The use of the Bitters is equally as effective in its results, and is attended with no risk. There is ample testimony to prove that the medicine possesses blood purifying qualities, and is a powerful tonic, and a general activator. It stimulates the action of the kidneys and promotes the removal from the system of impurities which develop diseases, and are fraught with serious danger. Fever and ague, dyspepsia, debility, nervousness, constipation, etc., are remedied by it.
